

Geography of Pizza

The lesson "Geography of Pizza" from the National Geographic Society's Web site introduces students to the concept of spatial organizations and teaches them its simplest components: points, lines, and area. The pizza restaurants in the neighborhood will be used to educate the students about these components.

<http://www.nationalgeographic.com/xpeditions/lessons/03/g35/pizza.html>