

Getting Lost

In this lesson from the National Geographic Society's Web site, students will learn about cardinal directions. They will practice figuring out relative directions of places in respect to their classroom. The lesson ends with a "hands-on" portion in which students tape signs up around the classroom with directions they would have to travel to get to certain places.

<http://www.nationalgeographic.com/xpeditions/lessons/02/gk2/lost.html>