

GIS

making maps reality

Geographic Information Systems allow us to create digital models of reality in order to help us better understand the natural systems of our world and the effects of our efforts to manage them.

GIS Day 2008

November 19

